1. (Amended) A device that uses electro-static and magnetic fields to produce motion, comprising a motivator and a target.

Please amend claim 2 as follows:

2. (Amended) The device of Claim 1, including a means for inducing an electric and magnetic field in said motivator and said target.

Please amend claim 3 as follows:

3. (Amended) The device of Claim 2, where said means for inducing an electric field including a means to induce an electric charge within a conductive mass to electrically polarize the mass by burying dielectrically insulated high-voltage field emitters within said mass.

Please amend claim 4 as follows:

4. (Amended) The device of Claim 3, including a means to assist said polarizing charge accumulation within said conductive mass with a magnetically coupled low voltage field, where the fields induced in said target by said motivator will be attracted and/or repelled by said motivator.
